

Archery...the Inner Game!

How to unleash your skills and remove the “interference” which exists between performance and potential!

A unique opportunity for Somerset archers on Saturday 20th January 2018

Have you ever shot an excellent arrow?

If so, the ability to do this is already programmed into your body – there is no reason why you shouldn’t repeat this, every time you step forward to shoot. And it’s the same with all human endeavour. However, we rarely perform at our best, in all situations, all of the time.

So, why don’t we? The evidence tells us that our minds often don’t help us to make the most of our skills. In fact, the mind often creates interference (“performance = potential minus interference” – Tim Gallwey, The Inner Game). It is now widely accepted that if we can understand how our minds affect our bodies and develop greater self-awareness, we can achieve significantly better and more consistent performance in most things we do. We can also create greater levels of enjoyment and reduce the amount of anxiety and stress that we experience.

The workshop....

This interactive and practical afternoon workshop has been specifically designed to help Somerset archers understand how to use their mind, language and body to make the most of their ability and remove the “interference” which exists between performance and potential. You will come away with techniques which not only help your archery, they will help you to develop and improve in all areas of your life. All you need to do is come along with a commitment to becoming better and an open mind.

Your main opponent is not the one standing next to you; it’s the one sitting in your head!

Workshop facilitator – Steve Wood

Steve is a professional Performance Coach and Master Practitioner of Neuro-Linguistic Programming (NLP). Over the last 21 years, he has supported literally hundreds of people throughout the world to develop, improve and achieve their goals.

Subjects covered

The workshop will include discussion and practical exercises on the following subjects:

- ‘self one’ and ‘self two’
- relaxation and breathing
- visualisation
- relaxed concentration and flow
- dealing with pressure, nerves, anxiety and stress
- anchoring and state changing
- mental preparation, creating patterns and switching off
- self-reflection and the dangers of self-analysis

Workshop Programme

13:45	Arrive and refreshments
14:00	Introduction, goals and principles
14:05	Demonstration – the impact of mind on the body
14:15	Presentation – human performance....how does it really work? <ul style="list-style-type: none">• What does it take to be excellent at anything?• The links between mind, body and language• The interference• ‘Self one’ and ‘self two’• The desired (but rarely achieved) states of relaxed concentration and flow• Being mindful
14:45	Exercise – mindful relaxation, breathing and posture
15:15	Exercise – visualisation (“Begin with the end in mind” – Dr Stephen Covey)
15:30	Break and refreshments
15:45	Exercise – self-reflection and improvement (“Awareness is curative” – Timothy Gallwey)
16:15	Demonstration – dealing with pressure, nerves, anxiety and stress
16:30	Exercise – anchoring your best state and state changing
16:40	Mental preparation, creating patterns and switching off
16:50	Start, stop, continue and refine
17:00	Close and depart

Steve will stay until 6pm to answer any specific questions and help you with any challenges.